“Philanthropy is involved with basic innovations that transform society, not simply maintaining the status quo or filling basic social needs that were formerly the province of the private sector.”

- David Rockefeller

ABOUT

David Rockefeller and his wife Peggy established the David Rockefeller Fund in 1989. The purpose of the fund was to carry out their annual charitable giving in communities where they had homes outside of New York City. In 2001, David Rockefeller expanded the Fund and invited his children, grandchildren, and their spouses to take a more active role in the Fund, with the idea of transferring his philanthropic legacy to them.

GUIDING PRINCIPLES

In its work, the Fund seeks to address the root causes of problems, working both locally and on a broader policy level guided by the following principles:

FAMILY LEGACY

We seek to honor the philanthropic traditions and values exemplified by David and Peggy Rockefeller, recognizing the responsibility that we have to be active and engaged participants in our communities, as well as in the larger world.

RISK TAKING

We will not shy away from difficult social issues; indeed we believe that our greatest impact often results from taking on exactly those problems that more traditional funders tend to avoid.

LEVERAGE

As a small foundation committed to tackling big issues, we value collaboration, and work to identify those grantmaking opportunities where our family's tradition of philanthropy will help bring attention to difficult problems. We are committed to doing the greatest possible good with the resources we have.

RESPECT

We respect our grantees as equal partners in the work we do. Our general approach is to identify people and institutions doing important work and then support them in ways they will find most meaningful, without imposing undue burdens on them.

FLEXIBILITY

We recognize that one of our particular strengths as a family foundation is the ability to act quickly and be responsive to the real-time needs of our grantees.

SELF-EXAMINATION

Since we are committed both to taking risks and to achieving the greatest possible impact, we understand the importance of assessing our activities on a regular basis in the hope that our funding can make a demonstrable difference, both for the issues we care about and the nonprofit organizations we support.

GRANTMAKING PROGRAMS

The David Rockefeller Fund has four primary program areas: Arts, Criminal Justice, Environment, and Community. The Community program supports more than 80 local nonprofit organizations in Maine, and in the State of New York, in both Westchester and Columbia County. In 2013, 83 grants were awarded to 80 organizations totaling $244,500.

The Arts program focuses on access and engagement; Criminal Justice promotes a more humane and fair criminal justice system; and the Environment program addresses climate change and local resilience efforts. In 2013, 27 grants, totaling $725,000, were awarded to 27 organizations in these areas.

In addition to the program areas outlined above, the Fund underwrites a number of initiatives designed to encourage family members' individual philanthropic involvement and interests, as well as collaborative grantmaking by the family.

Grants listed in this report reflect awarded, not paid, gifts.

ARTS

EMPHASIS

Arts participation and access

GEOGRAPHIC FOCUS

New York City

“Art is important because it expands how we look at and understand the world. It can make us think beyond our own experience, and often, in our appreciation, we find things that link us in a common humanity.”

-David Rockefeller

The arts are an indispensable part of human experience, building self-awareness, fostering creativity, and encouraging new ways of thinking. The goal of the Arts program is to enrich individual human experience and help strengthen communities by providing meaningful engagement with, and access to, the arts. The Fund provides support for organizations that give individuals who might not otherwise have the opportunity a chance to participate in the arts in a sustained and substantive way.

All grants are located in one of the five boroughs of New York City unless otherwise indicated.

The Fund does not accept unsolicited proposals for this program.

The Center for Urban Pedagogy brings together artists, designers, and community advocacy groups to create research-based, design-driven visual tools that promote policy change. These collaborations increase public participation in improving and understanding urban life, particularly among underrepresented communities. CUPs flagship Community Education program is Making Policy Public (MPP). Each year CUP brings together four teams made up of designers and community organizations to create visual explanations (in the form of pamphlets that fold out into large format color posters) that explain a critical policy issue.

Fund for Public Schools New York, NY $15,000
Summer Arts Institute

The Summer Arts Institute serves 300 New York City public school students, in grades 8 through 12, who demonstrate promise in one of six art forms (dance, drama, instrumental music, vocal music, photography or visual arts). Students, who are selected through a formal application and audition process, are instructed by master arts teachers and professional teaching artists in an extensive four-week program. Participants come from all five boroughs and represent the City’s diverse population. The Institute is administered by the New York Department of Education and is designed in partnership with the American Ballet Theatre, Theatre for a New Audience, Tribeca Film Institute, and Young Audiences New York.

Laundromat Project New York, NY $15,000

The Laundromat Project (LP) brings art, artists, and socially relevant arts programming to Laundromats, schools and other every day, public spaces in underserved neighborhoods in the Bronx, Brooklyn, and Harlem. Students participate in the Saturday program for 25 weeks.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE

EMPHASIS

Criminal justice reform and re-entry services

GEOGRAPHIC FOCUS

National & New York City

“The mood and temper of the public in regard to the treatment of crime and criminals is one of the most unfailing tests of the civilisation of any country.”

-Winston Churchill

The U.S. incarceration rate is the highest in the world, either as a percentage of population, or in absolute numbers. Approximately 3 million people are now behind bars, and there are approximately 17.5 million admissions to jail or prison annually. African-Americans represent just 13% of the general population, but account for 49% of the prison and jail population. The recidivism rate is equally alarming, with two-thirds of those released from U.S. jails and prisons sent back within three years.

The goal of the Criminal Justice program is to promote a more fair and humane criminal justice system in the United States and New York City. With an emphasis on criminal justice reform and reentry services, the Fund supports organizations that advocate on behalf of prison reform and a rethinking of our current incarceration philosophy. It also supports nonprofits that provide pre-and post-release services, with a focus on family and community reintegration.

The Fund does not accept unsolicited proposals for this program.

Advocates for Children of New York New York, NY $20,000
School Justice Project

Founded in 1971, Advocates for Children (AFC) is one of the only agencies in New York City wholly dedicated to ensuring equal access to quality public education for the City’s most impoverished and vulnerable families. AFC’s staff of attorneys and education specialists helps children and youth, from birth to age 21, and their families advocate for their educational rights by providing free legal and advocacy services, including individual representation at school-related hearings and appeals. The DR Fund supports the School Justice Project, an initiative that provides education access services for youth involved in the criminal justice system.

Women’s Program

The Bard Prison Initiative (BPI) is the largest provider of liberal arts college education in prisons within the New York State Department of Corrections and Community Supervision (DOCCS). Current enrollment is 250 students in 70 liberal arts courses. BPI also works nationally through its Consortium for the Liberal Arts in Prison, which supports other colleges and universities in establishing similar programs. BPI graduates earn degrees from Bard College, and go on to achieve success in many different fields. To date, BPI has awarded approximately 250 degrees. The Fund provides support for BPI to reestablish and expand its women’s program to two of the three remaining New York State prisons for women, Taconic and Albion Correctional Facilities, located between Rochester and Buffalo, NY.

Center for Constitutional Rights New York, NY $50,000

The Center for Constitutional Rights (CCR) was founded during the American Civil Rights Movement by attorneys representing civil rights activists and movements in the South. Over the nearly 50 years since, CCR has provided progressive legal advocacy to virtually every major social and civil rights movement in the U.S. In so doing, CCR has achieved numerous victories to expand rights of communities of color, immigrant communities, and other marginalized groups and individuals. The DR Fund provides general operating support.

Center for NuLeadership New York, NY $20,000

The Center for NuLeadership and Urban Solutions (CNUS) is a community-based criminal justice policy, advocacy, and training center founded and directed by formerly-incarcerated professionals. The DR Fund supports Fortune’s Better Living Center, an initiative that provides licensed professional outpatient mental health services on-site at their Queens headquarters.

Sentencing Project Washington, DC $30,000

The Sentencing Project (SP) works throughout the United States for a fair and effective criminal justice system by promoting reforms in sentencing policy, addressing unjust racial disparities, and advocating for alternatives to incarceration. The DR Fund provides general operating support for SP’s programs which include: reducing the number of people in prison in the U.S.; addressing racial injustice and disparities; and eliminating juvenile life-without-parole sentences; and felon disenfranchisement.

ENVIRONMENT

EMPHASIS

Reduction of greenhouse gas emissions, energy conservation, and sustainability

GEOGRAPHIC FOCUS

National and local Northeastern communities

“The care of the Earth is our most ancient and most worthy, and after all our most pleasing responsibility. To cherish what remains of it and to foster its renewal is our only hope.”

-Wendell Berry

With just 5% of the world’s population, the U.S. consumes 25% of all global energy resources. On average, each American home emits 23,000 pounds of carbon dioxide annually. Concentrations of carbon dioxide are now higher than at any time in the past 700,000 years. Clearly, this is not sustainable.

The goal of the Environment program is to promote a healthier, more sustainable planet by addressing issues related to climate change. The Fund supports organizations that advocate for the reduction of greenhouse gas emissions, and highlight the negative effects of excessive carbon consumption in the U.S. Grantmaking is focused on combating the use of coal, and its related community impacts and promotes energy efficiency measures. The Fund also supports community-based activities that help strengthen self-reliance and increase access to local food and energy resources.

The Fund does not accept unsolicited proposals for this program.

Added Value Brooklyn, NY $25,000

Added Value promotes the sustainable development of Red Hook in South Brooklyn. Founded in 2001 to address the lack of meaningful educational and employment opportunities in the area, Added Value provides teenagers living in this largely industrial community the opportunity to help operate its 2.75 acre working farm. Each year, 40 young people between the ages of 14 and 19 work on the farm, are trained to develop related business ventures, and do community advocacy and outreach on environmental and food justice issues. Participants are paid a stipend that for many families represents a meaningful increase in income.

The Canary Project Syracuse, NY $25,000
Modern Primitive Exchange

The Canary Project (TCP) combines art and science to produce artwork, visual media, and educational curriculum that deepen the public’s understanding of climate change and energizes its commitment to implementing solutions. TCP projects reach a diverse audience in a variety of venues including: art and science museums, schools, public art installations, internet-based media, and radio. Since the organization’s founding, TCP has supported diverse projects involving more than 100 artists, designers, writers, educators, and scientists. DR Fund provides support for Modern Primitive Exchange (MPX), a five-year community education project that focuses on resilience.

Environmental Integrity Project Washington, DC $30,000

The Environmental Integrity Project is a non-partisan organization that works to promote more effective enforcement of federal environmental laws in three key areas: coal-fired power plants, factory farms, and petroleum refineries. The Fund supports EIPs work to assess options for challenging coal export expansions planned for the Gulf Coast and the Port of Baltimore in partnership with the Sierra Club, Gulf Restoration Network, Air Alliance Houston, Public Citizen and Southern Environmental Law Center.

Food Corps $30,000

Food Corps is a national school garden and farm-to-school service program. Based on the Teach for America and AmeriCorps model, Food Corps places motivated young leaders in limited-resourced communities to foster healthy school food environments. Food Corps members work for one year in public schools in 15 states throughout the U.S., developing programs that provide food education; establish school gardens; and advocate for sourcing local foods in school cafeterias.

Green Guerillas Brooklyn, NY $25,000
Harvest for Neighborhoods Campaign

Green Guerillas is a community-based organization that provides targeted services to 300 community garden groups in New York City. The DR Fund supports the Harvest for Neighborhoods Campaign, an initiative to strengthen food-growing community gardens in Central Brooklyn and the Bronx, where more than a third of residents live in poverty in areas known as “food deserts.”

Groundswell Washington, DC $50,000

Groundswell recruits community organizations into collective purchasing groups as a way to leverage their energy purchasing power. The DR Fund supports Groundswell’s Community Energy Purchase Initiative. This initiative organizes faith and mission-based institutions to purchase renewably sourced energy together. By buying together, institutions in the collective are able to pay significantly lower rates for electricity while also creating benefits for the community and environment.

Kentucky Coalition London, KY $25,000

The Kentucky Coalition is the 501(c)(3) arm of Kentuckians for the Commonwealth, a nonpartisan statewide citizens’ organization. The Coalition uses direct action to challenge unfair political, economic and social systems in Kentucky. It does this through a number of initiatives, which include: running advocacy programs that promote energy efficiency and renewable energy; opposing the construction of new coal-burning power plants; and addressing the region’s over-reliance on coal to drive its economy.

Mountain Association for Community Development (MACED) Berea, KY $35,000

Established in 1976, MACED seeks to establish a sustainable regional economy that meets the needs of low-income people and protects natural resources in Central Appalachia. MACED’s hybrid model combines enterprise development, research and policy, and demonstration projects to model alternatives to the region’s current approaches to energy and economy. As part of its programs, MACED operates a revolving loan fund for energy efficiency and economic development projects in the region.

Pratt Center for Community Development

Brooklyn, NY

$30,000

The Pratt Center for Community Development (PCCD) is part of the Pratt Institute, a well-regarded College that seeks to educate artists and creative professionals to be responsible contributors to society. PCCD is the only university-based community development organization that operates at both the grassroots and policy levels. It combines technical assistance, organizing, research, and policy advocacy to develop innovative solutions to remedy economic and environmental inequalities in New York City. The Fund provides support for creating and implementing an energy-efficiency retrofit standardization package for similar housing stock in New York City.

ReAMP

$25,000

RE-AMP is an innovative network of more than 160 non-profits and foundations working on climate change and energy policy across an eight state region in the Midwest. Re-Amp is based on the idea that intentional alignment of foundation and non-profit efforts will produce more progress over a shorter period of time than other types of collaborations. Membership is open to any organization (non-profit or foundation). Participants agree to support the group's greenhouse gas emissions reduction strategy (reducing global warming pollution from the electric sector 80% by 2030, and economy wide reductions of 80% by 2050) and to adhere to a short list of ground rules for collaborative activity.

Sustainable Endowments Institute Cambridge, MA

$25,000

Billion Dollar Green Challenge

The Billion Dollar Green Challenge, a project of the Sustainable Endowments Institute, encourages colleges, universities, and other nonprofit institutions to invest a combined total of one billion dollars in self-managed revolving funds that finance energy efficiency improvements. Participating institutions achieve reductions in operating expenses and greenhouse gas emissions, while creating regenerating funds for future energy efficiency projects.

The Community program provides support for over 80 charitable and public organizations in communities where David Rockefeller lives outside of New York City: principally Mt. Desert Island, Maine; the Tarrytown area of Westchester County; New York, and the Livingston area of Columbia County, New York.
